

A suspended image

*An image remains suspended,
a butterfly
flying over the lavender plumes.
An idea remains, a thought never dormant,
a complex dream that relies more on mystery
than on the tools of reason.*

*But now it is winter and a starving cold cooks the days.
In the chrysalises new butterflies
are waiting,
haiku with the taste of oblivion.*

31-XII-2021